

Children's Week Book Project

Ages 5-8

The following stories are designed to be completed by children themselves but younger children may need the assistance of an adult, or for the page to be printed at a large size to better accommodate the size of their writing.

Children are encouraged to be descriptive and imaginative. Having the story read aloud after filling out the blanks is highly recommended.

Children may use whatever medium they choose to create an illustration that accompanies their story as long as it can be easily photographed.

Children's Week celebrates the interests, opinions, talents and Rights of all Children by promoting the articles of the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child. Children's week in WA is convened by Meerilinga Young Children's Foundation. The Children's Week Book Project is proudly supported by Healthway through the Go for 2 & 5 initiative and Lotterywest.

Supported by

When I Grow Up

My school isn't a school for humans.

It's a school for _____ and it's pretty great.

The best things about my school are the

_____ and the _____.

At the canteen you can order a _____

(and just so you know it tastes _____.)

At my school you have to watch out for _____ because _____

There are lots of things you can learn at my school.

You can learn about _____ and maybe if you do you'll grow up to become a _____.

You can learn how to _____ and you might grow up to be a _____.

I'm not sure what I want to be when I grow up. Sometimes I think maybe a _____ or a _____

or maybe a _____.

My teacher says I can be whatever I want to be.

UNCRC Article 29 - Your education should help you use and develop your talents and abilities. It should also help you learn to live peacefully, protect the environment and respect other people

Supported by

When I Grow Up

*What kind of character is your main character?
Can you make a picture of your character?
Maybe you could include some of your characters school in the background?*

Supported by

