

Children's Week Book Project

Ages 5-8

The following stories are designed to be completed by children themselves but younger children may need the assistance of an adult, or for the page to be printed at a large size to better accommodate the size of their writing.

Children are encouraged to be descriptive and imaginative. Having the story read aloud after filling out the blanks is highly recommended.

Children may use whatever medium they choose to create an illustration that accompanies their story as long as it can be easily photographed.

Children's Week celebrates the interests, opinions, talents and Rights of all Children by promoting the articles of the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child. Children's week in WA is convened by Meerilinga Young Children's Foundation. The Children's Week Book Project is proudly supported by Healthway through the Go for 2 & 5 initiative and Lotterywest.

Supported by

Robot Me

Hi! I am a great inventor! I've invented lots of things like the

_____ and the _____

One day I invented a robot that looked just like me. I thought I might be able to get the robot to do my _____ for me, and other things I don't like doing such as _____.

The trouble was the robot did love doing those things. Soon the robot wanted to do everything! It even wanted to _____.

That's when the robot locked me in a _____ and ran off.

It looked so much like me that no one, not even my _____ knew it was actually a robot. Luckily I'm a great inventor.

I made a _____ out of _____ and I escaped!

I chased the robot all the way to my school. When we got there my class was confused. "That one's a robot!" the robot and I both shouted at the same time.

My teacher thought for a moment then said, "Okay then, tell me your name?"

The robot and I shouted " _____ " at the same time.

"No" said the teacher, "what's the name on your birth certificate?"

I smiled. The robot frowned. My full name was very long. I shouted

" _____ !"

And the robot knew it was game over.

These days I've used parts of the robot to build a _____ and a _____ but I'll never ever make another me. One me is definitely enough!

UNCRC Article 8 – you have the right to an identity, an official record of who you are. No one has the right to take this away from you

Supported by

Robot Me

*Can you create a picture of yourself and a robot version of you?
What part of this story would make a great picture?*

Supported by

